STANDING OF THE CLUBS.

How is a fellow to be an optimist and say cheerful things about a baseball team when a foreign aggregation blows into town and makes seven runs in one inning, winning out 11 to 1.

Seven runs in one round and four more triple, and two-bagger, was Boston's poryesterday, while the home team collected eight swats and only scored one tally. will attest.

"Dolly" Gray, who won his game against last run. the Boston Red Sox in the Hub last week was elected to take another shot at the Bean brigade, and twirled a respectable game up to the fatal eighth, when, after four slams in a row, including a circuit punch, had been registered, he was yanked out and Joe Hovlik substituted. Joe could hardly do worse, Manager McAleer figured, and might possibly do better. The score book showed that he did just about as well as Gray, for the visitors clubbed out four hits and scored three runs in the eighth, and added another on two hits
